

The Center for Integrative Psychotherapy of the Addictions and Psychological present:
Integrative Harm Reduction Psychotherapy and Transformational Chairwork

A one-day combined introductory training in these two approaches and how they complement each other by:

Andrew Tatarsky, PhD and Scott Kellogg, PhD

When: Friday, May 14th, 2010, from 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM

Where: The Ellis Institute, 45 East 65th Street, NYC, NY 10065-6508

Fee: $80

Dr. Andrew Tatarsky is a leading developer of Harm Reduction Psychotherapy. His integrated approach to treatment utilizes the best of the psychodynamic, harm reduction, cognitive-behavioral, and experiential traditions in addiction treatment. This approach is very useful because it empowers the psychotherapist to simultaneously treat problems with substance use and the emotional difficulties that may underlie or drive it. His training will include a didactic overview and case consultation with material provided by attendees.

More information about his work can be found at: <http://www.andrewtatarsky.com/>

Drawing on the clinical wisdom and practice of a wide range of Gestalt and integrative psychotherapists, Dr. Kellogg will introduce therapists to the art and science of chairwork, or psychotherapeutic dialogues, in an active, creative, and clinically-useful manner.

Using didactic presentations, scripted and unscripted role-plays, and live demonstrations, participants will learn how to use this technique with addictive disorders and when treating problems related to loss and grief. More information about his work can be found at: <http://transformationalchairwork.com>

If you are planning on attending, it would be helpful if you would let us know in advance. Please e-mail Dr. Tatarsky at: atatarsky@aol.com

For more information, please call 212-633-8157

We look forward to meeting and working with you.

(Please forward to interested colleagues and students.)